We plant memories and tracks of graduating Bruins, someday to be uncovered in retrospect. The first time capsule holds a lasting impression never to be erased.

Serving as a constant reminder of the good times past, our high school years become pasted pictures on the scrapbook of each mind.

We are unique. Unique in our own time.

The Afro-American Club has been rather busy this year. They held a black history program one week, with Laurietta Jordan and Jeff Straton as commentators. After that came the annual Extravaganza which netted a reasonable profit according to Mrs. Irby, the head of the group. For the first time ever, the club decided to hold a "Miss Afro" contest. The title was claimed by La Vonda Moore and Francine Harris and Brenda Moore were the runner ups.

Also, during Christmas, they sponsored the canned foods drive for the Allen County Children's Home. The club itself contributed one hundred goods to neighborhood Services Association. Their last project was a trip to King's Island. An academic award was awarded to Laurietta Jordan for having the highest average among the seniors in the club.

Two members of the Afro-Extravaganza are standing during their performance holding the nationality flag.

During the Sadie Hawkins Dance, Minister Levy married Patty Mertz to Bob Pea.

On April 13, Northrop students dressed up in country clothes for the Sadie Hawkins dance. There was approximately 75 people who were doing a little foot-stomping, knee-slapping, and hand-clapping to the tune of country rock.

The band played on while others snuck away to be married by "Marryin' Sam", alias Mr. Richard Levy. Mr. Paul Spuller committed bigamy . . . he married three women. This was heard from an on-the-spot eye witness. There was no fee to be married. Maybe that was why Mr. Spuller took advantage of this service. For the ones who were eager to be married, but later regretted the outcome, divorces were available on the following Monday in school for only $10.00!

No divorces were ever granted . . . doesn't that show the true, everlasting love of Northrop High School?! You could tell by the atmosphere that everyone was having a whoppin' good time . . .

This year many students of the Northrop advance drama class worked hard to present "The Visit." After about six weeks of practice the actors finally got into the feeling of this very serious involved drama. Of which was presented on the 16 and 17 of November, 1973.

Setting the stage with props, before and during the performance was the job of the stage crew. They also worked on the lighting, curtain and scenery. The actors did a good job of getting into the feeling of the play.

On the 31st of May at 7:30 p.m. the seniors were invited to recognition night at Northrop. The ceremony was held in the gymnasium. Many awards were given out in cups, metals, and trophies.

The Spuller Valedictorian cup this year went to Jeff Halter. He also was awarded the science cup. Marla Shock was the Salutarian in which she was given the Tricolos Salutarian Cup. She also was given the 4th year Latin award.

The different departments gave their awards away. The academic award was given to Ed Zbacnik in Mathematics. Jon Warkentin was given the Pressler-Physic Cup. The Social Studies Achievement went to Ruth Ann Lachot. Business Department Key was awarded to Vicki Boley.

Rick Magley went from the recognition with most of the awards from track. They were the Most Valuable Track, Most Valuable Cross Country.

Northrop's first Gymnefest provided an exciting evening for both the audience and participants. Selected students from gym classes displayed their agility by dangling from the uneven parallel bars and flipping across the floor in a series of tumbling routines.

Physical Education is an important area at Northrop and follows the Greek axiom of a sound mind should exist in a sound body. Physical conditioning is important in Northrop PE but there is another aspect and that is personal recreation that can continue through the rest of the individual's life.

Besides the usual clubs and organizations of any school, there are always special projects classes, groups of people, and so forth engage themselves into to try and better their environment a little. Our goals are to always succeed but success isn't handed to us on a china plate. We must work for it.

However, we make a plunging effort to try. Even if we don't totally succeed, at least we can open other people's eyes as to what Northrop High School can do besides excell ourselves in sports alone. We consider ourselves the best and we put forth an effort to prove it. As the saying goes, "If at first, you don't succeed, try, try again."

Papa Bruin Paul Spuller and assistant principal Dick Horstmeyer get a pretty smile from a very pretty now graduate.

The outside world doesn't seem to frighten these two intrepid souls anymore.

Question. When are you so happy that you have to cry or at least sniffle? Answer. Why at graduation, of course! Ask any member of the class of 1973 from Northrop High.

Over 500 of the finest young ladies and gentlemen from Fort Wayne were marched up the aisle of the Coliseum and were officially graduated from Northrop on June 5, 1973.

They marked the closing of a career in high school that had begun a long twelve years before and one that was marked with many deep and lasting friendships. But they now will leave the Coliseum and go in all different directions in the words of the commencement speaker, Mike Aspy.

The handing out of diplomas began with Jeff Halter as the Valedictorian and went through the reading of names for over thirty minutes until the last sheep skin was awarded.

Emotions during the ceremony ranged from sheer joy to boredom as the ritual progressed, but again and again the overwhelming thought was of the change in life style and surroundings that such a simple thing as a commencement could bring to the grads.

Both of the student speakers, Mike Aspy and Malinda Faye Wade alluded to the new stage that the class was embarking on after June fifth.

John Schultz proudly takes his sheepskin.

Dave Wilkerning and Denise Moore lead the last refrain of the Alma Mater.

Malinda Faye Wade addresses the seniors before they leave Northrop as grads.

What will you miss most about old Northrop High School? Will it be the excitement at the ball games or the crowds in the lunch line. Maybe it will be your favorite class or that cute guy or gal that you always see in the hall second period.

Whatever it will be, you will miss it and there won't be another chance to be a Bruin like you were before. Somehow it changes once you become a graduate and that's all right.

Going to school is aimed at the commencement ceremony and that big ceremony is the real reason for school. It is not the ball games or the lunch line or even that cute guy or gal. It is graduation.

When you leave school you will miss it but then school and a lot of people connected with it will miss you. Miss you for the things that you were and could be. Miss you because you are you.

Joy was unrestrained as the class of 1973, Northrop's class with class went out of the Coliseum and into the world.

How would you like to tell a class of elementary students a story or put on a play for their enjoyment? Listening to speakers from I.U. Campus and the Fort Wayne community or working on extra reports and projects are just some of the interesting things that happens in Northrop's English classes.

This year is the first here at Northrop for English electives. Some of these are Mystery stories, Childrens Literature, Suspense and Adventure, Advanced Composition, Greek Mythology, Technical Writing, Childrens Theater, and The Bible and Shakespeare. Today the electives are more valuable to the student because they are learning things that they will have reason to use the knowledge they are gaining. This new program will get better every year because they will revise the electives offered and at the same time will add new classes as the need arises and asked for by the student body.

New procedures used in English

A study of William Shakespeare led to doing news broadcasting and a studying of the Shakespearean period and the events that occurred. While doing their broadcast students were video taped so the students could view the telecast in later time.

Ross Roloff, chairman, and Diane Pond, secretary, practice parliamentary procedures during their Speech class.

In this world of vast communication basic speaking techniques are still needed and used.

Introducing a person or giving an informative or convincing speech is the way Mr. William Brown's first year speech classes began learning these techniques. After voice inflection, poise, and reorganization of their thoughts they will advance to debates and even heckling the speaker.

Mr. Brown feels that everyone needs to take a course in speech. "Once in everyone's life they will have to make some kind of speech and a course will give the person self-confidence they will need."

Sophomore Russ Roloff acts as chairman with sophomore Barbara Bristol as a carrier while the class tries to make a decision regarding a major topic in Speech class.

After the class had voted on a topic, sophomore Diane Pond acts as a secretary and takes down notes on the class decision concerning the topic in Mr. Brown's speech class.

Scott Zook, chairman, opens the meeting and introduces the topics for discussion while learning the methods of parliament during speech class.

As a part of parliamentary procedures the class gets together and discuss their viewpoints on a topic before voting.

Every person no matter their final goal in life needs some kind of math. Here at Northrop the math courses offered are fundamentals of geometry, general math 1 & 2, 3 & 4, trigonometry, advanced algebra 3 & 4, analytic geometry, geometry, and algebra 1 & 2.

Our math department also offers two honor classes they are advanced math and advanced algebra and trigonometry. To enroll in these honor courses you must have a high ability in math and the recommendation of the teacher.

Miss Plumanns demonstrates to her advanced algebra class how to find the x and y coordinates and then plot them on a graph after substituting them into an equation.

Lisa Bicknese demonstrates the use of the slide ruler to Scott Mowry, Cathy Rish, and Tom Jeppson. Lisa, Scott, Cathy, and Tom take Advanced Trigonometry.

Sophomore Debbie Henderson learns in her first period geometry class taught by Mr. Thrasher that straight lines are necessary for accurate figures.

French, Spanish, Latin, and German are the languages taught here at Northrop by six teachers.

These classes use such equipment as movies, film strips, tape recorders, and headsets.

There are three classrooms that have electronic equipment which are made up of headphones which students can listen to prerecorded lessons.

All classes have use to the language laboratory which helps students improve their speech.

Mike Wolff uses a first year text book for reference to help him gain the fundamental rules needed in completing a second year of Latin taught by Mrs. Janet Weber.

Megan Nash uses the lab facilities while practicing speaking the French language.

Learning a profession in high school can some day lead to a very prosperous future in typing, accounting, stenography, or secretarial practice and also be helpful.

These such courses are being taught here at Northrop not only for students who are going into that field of work but to the students who feel the need for it.

Mr. Tim Matthias's Distributive Education and Mrs. Janet Hawley's Cooperative Office Education tries to find jobs for students who try to put their skill to use and earn good money at the same time.

Other courses taught to broaden the students fields are Business Law, Shorthand, Clerical Practice, and Bookkeeping. These courses give the student an understanding of the subject they are taught.

New concepts being created in art

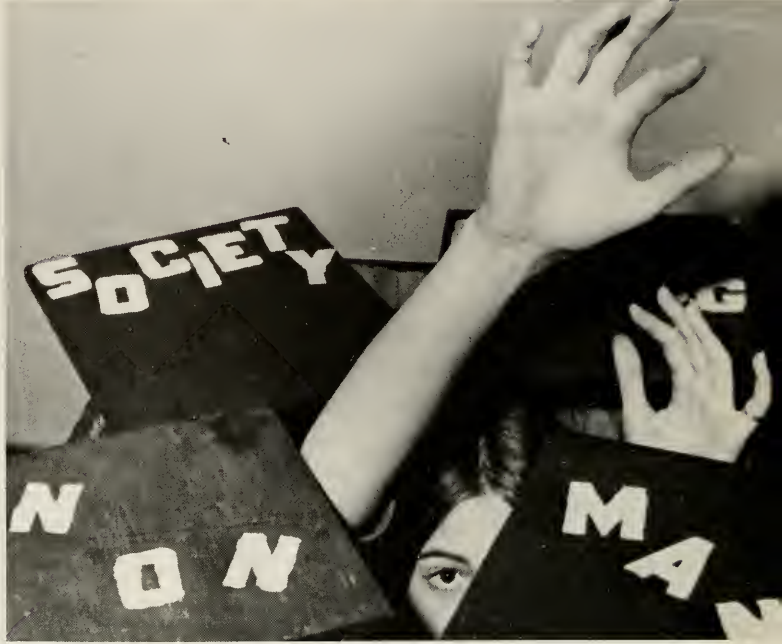

Robert Johnson

Margaret Whonsetler

Is society closing in on man? New ideas and a creative mind bring out clever but serious thoughts in the art class. This exhibition was on display in Mr. Johnson's class.

The class working on art designs makes Mrs. Whonsetler's class alive with activity. Students learn to make different designs cut out of magazines.

Using felt tip markers, juniors Edward Cochrane and Darrich Aldrich draw a pretty picture in Mr. "Art" Johnson's class while Melvin Worthman works on his project.

Mew Moore, Lynda Falk, Sue Greulich, and Greg David examine what is the combination of two chemicals mixed together after it had hardened.

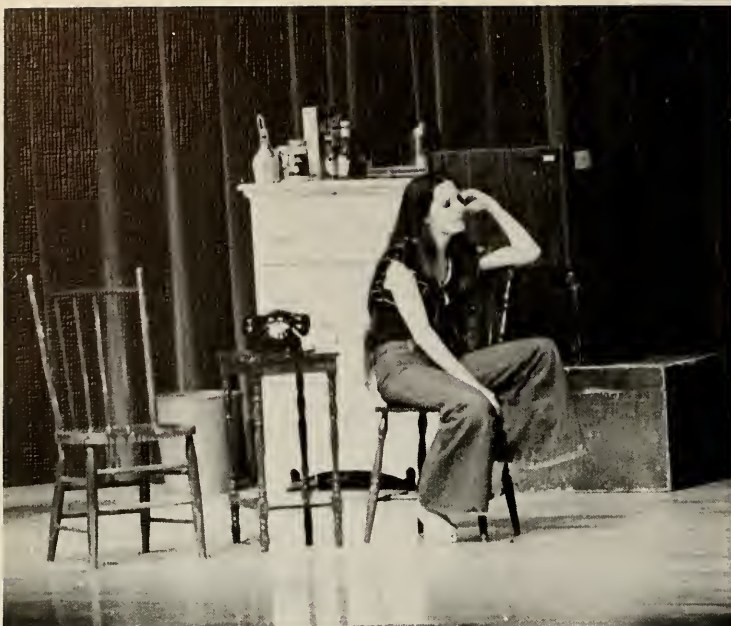

With determination, sophomore Linda DeMarko clips away at a piece of paper.

Learning to make jewelry, stitchery, or do silk screening are just some of the projects learned to do in the art classes.

Students used silver, copper, and other metals in making jewelry, acrylics water colors, and tempra were used in painting.

Students were encouraged to participate in the Scholastic Art Show. Students could enter through their art teacher any type of art exhibits which they thought might win. Some exhibits were block printing, photo silkscreens, mixed media, jewelry, graphic design, and textile design.

Regionals were held here in Ft. Wayne, Northrop received a second place along with 12 winners and 22 honorable mentions.

Boys gym classes ranged from sophomore gym classes which are required to individual team sports.

Sophomore classes experience many different activities. Among these are tennis, archery, field hockey, gymnastics, and many different sports like baseball, basketball, and field hockey.

In individual gym classes students chose from team sports, body building, or gymnastics. In team sports students centered the year on different sports like football and volleyball.

Senior Tom Gezych lifts weights to build his arm muscles and to keep in shape.

Jama Frey helps her team out by hitting the ball over the net and scoring.

Girls gym is an active and interesting part of Northrop. For seniors and juniors there is dancing, gymnastics or individual and team sports to choose from. Gym is still a requirement for the sophomore girls. Their classes include tennis, archery, volleyball, racketball, basketball, tumbling, kinball, gymnastics, field hockey, badminton, and golf.

This was the first year here at Northrop for the girls to organize a gymnastics team which competes with other area high schools.

Jackie DeBolt, during her gymnastic class practices vaults and dismounts on the horse.

World History was offered as an elective for sophomores while juniors were required to take United States History. Seniors were required to take government for one semester then take either sociology or economics.

Teachers used such materials as the overhead projectors, records, film strips, games, and the facilities of the library to let the student understand and to let him see the material they are studying. This allows the student to get a better understanding.

United States History deals with the past history of the U.S. to the present. Students did oral reports or term papers in class.

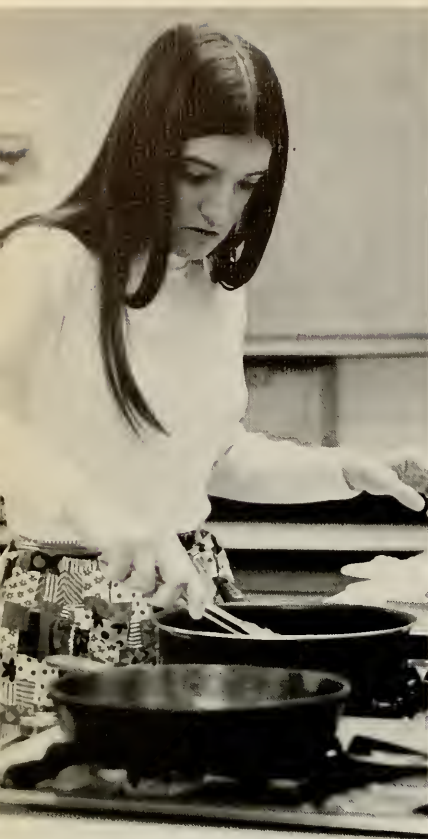

Junior Max Mertz does his oral report while it is being tape recorded by Mr. Dille. Mr. Dille feels that listening back helps the students with verbal communication.

Mr. Nathaniel Wittenberg listens to a student in his sophomore world history class.

In his U.S. History class Mr. Stavreti looks over Lex Oran's paper.

Senior Patricia Darnall, finds that frying chicken can still be fun.

Here at Northrop the boys as well as the girls participate in Home Economics classes. Foods, home management, clothing, child care, human development and foods-chefs are some of the choices offered and which are being taught by Mrs. Hewes, Mrs. Lipp, Mrs. McKee, and Mrs. Yoquelet.

Learning food's nutritional value and how to prepare meals are part of foods. How to take care of your clothing and also selecting a pattern and material is the first step in clothing classes. Learning how to care for children of all ages is the major part of child care. The financial aspect of running a home are discussed in home management classes.

Bruins learn skill in Industrial Arts

Drafting can be very confusing as Tom Webb finds out. Tom listens to Mr. Marvin Todd while he explains the problem out for him in Tom's second period class.

Rick Key and Randy Koomler try to start their motor which they have worked on in Mr. George Surbers sixth period class. Working and starting their motor is part of power mechanics.

Welding metal can be very dangerous, all safety procedures are strictly practiced.

The Industrial Arts teachers tried this year to gear certain students to the shop course in which they might specialize in later in life. The shop courses which were offered are metals, woods, electronics, power mechanics, and drafting. These classes had about 517 students with 7 girls enrolled.

College courses are being taught in drafting. Students center on both engineering and architectural drawings.

The basics were learned first in power mechanics, then the students worked on small motors and transistor radios.

The making of water skis, archery bows, and racket handles were just some of the projects made in the woods shop classes.

All classes and projects are given and instructed with the most guidance and discipline.

Amazement fills new ambitions

Mr. Kuhn helps Craig Kline with his problem in his 4th period Astronomy class.

Astronomy being taught by Mr. Kuhn and Mr. Baker this year is not only the studying and watching of stars but it also includes studying their orbits and the laws that occur in space. To learn the mechanics involved with the planetarium and the knowledge of the geometry of stars is also a major part of astronomy.

The planetarium is used by the astronomy classes which is a semester course, eight and sixth grade science classes from some of the surrounding elementary and junior high schools, adult groups such as the PTSA and other adult education classes.

Opportunities within the schedule for other high school classes within the city, parochial school involvement, civic groups, school clubs, and adult education classes to use Northrop's planetarium is also given.

Team work plays an important part in Astronomy class as juniors Maureen Sheean and Jody Weimer work together to solve their problems.

The Science department offers courses in advanced biology, chemistry, physics, earth science, applied physical science, and life science here at Northrop. For the advanced student with an interest in science there is independent study. To enroll in this class you must meet requirements set by the science teachers and get permission from Mr. Levy.

To make the science classes interesting the teachers try to spend a lot of time in the labs and at the same time give the students the experience and also some idea of what will be expected of them in a college course.

Lab diagrams, models, charts, films and the facilities available in the library and greenhouse are used to make the classes more meaningful to the students.

Student teacher, Miss Shaffer shows Frank Kopecky how to begin dissection of the crayfish.

Administrative staff builds future

The administrative staff consisting of principal, Mr. Paul Spuller and assistant principal Mr. Richard Horstmeyer handle most of the problems of the school.

Mr. Pat Martone, Dean of Women and Mr. Melvin Zehner, Dean of Men handle the misguided students.

The Athletic Director, Mr. Mark Schoeff knows the meaning of work when the problems of the sports events end up in his office.

The counselors consisting of Mrs. Janet Lipp, Mr. George Tricolas, Mr. Paul Bienz, and Mr. Herbert Banet are in charge of helping students with their courses, subjects, and other matter needed.

The secretaries, Mrs. Kay Bohlander, Mrs. Lillian Nicoski, Mrs. Mildred Keuneke, Mrs. Margaret Best, Mrs. Dorothy Long, and Mrs. Ann Kilgore work to keep the administrative staff happy.

Always in piles and piles of paper work principal 'Papa Bruin' Paul Spuller always seems to keep a happy smile through all of his work during a long day.

Everything is closing in on me seems to be the expression of assistant principal Richard Horstmeyer after a long day.

Dean of girls, Pat Martone settles the problems of the girls here at Northrop.

Mark Schoeff, Athletic Director pauses for a moment for his hard job working out the problems of the athletic department which include track meets, basketball, and football games.

Melvin Zehner, Dean of Men keeps a watchful eye over students while they pass in the hall during a noon lunch period.

Guidance counselor, Mr. Paul Bienz keeps busy with a phone call during his hectic day.

Mrs. Janet Lipp, guidance counselor talks over the problems of the day with Mr. Schierling.

Mr. Herbert Banet answers the phone while looking over student records.

Deans, secretaries manage school

Mrs. Dorothy Long works diligently in the office because work always seems to pile up.

Mrs. Nicoski as a secretary also helps students with their difficulties.

Mrs. Kilgore types up material needed in the busy office to keep the administration pleased.

Mrs. Mildrid Keuneke helps Mr. Horstmeyer with some filing cards.

Study period not just for studying

Tom Drake and Tim Ervin study together during their first period study hall.

Study hall proves that some students need to catch up on their sleep while some students feel the need to catch up on their work.

Every student here at Northrop has the opportunity to taking a study hall as a course selection but does not receive any credit.

The study hall clerks, Mrs. Wilson and Mrs. Herge try to keep quiet and orderliness during class so that every student has the chance of finishing their homework, using the facilities of the media center, studying for a test or even sleeping during the class period.

Students may do almost anything in their study hall as long as it does not disturb other students and they are quiet.

Students are permitted to use the library during study hall, junior Lorraine Williams receives a pass from Mrs. Wilson to use the library facilities.

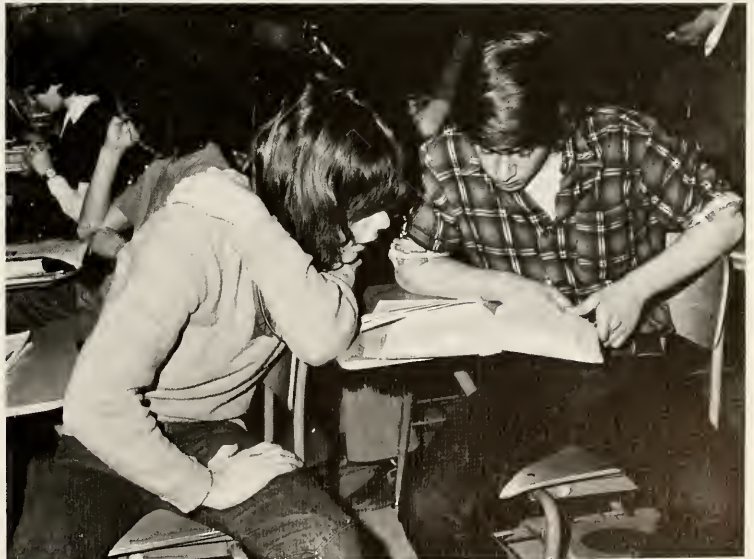

Darleen Carter and Patty Bender alphabetize index cards in the office.

Roberta Bomar helps in the office in her free time doing odd jobs.

Northrop is unique in Sports

Harriers take fourth

"You only get out of something what you put into it, and to achieve real success, you just give yourself completely," stated Barrie Peterson, coach of the Mighty Bruin harriers. On the first day of practice, August 7, the team set goals. These goals were to have an undefeated season, take the city championship, take sectionals and regionals, and be in the top five in the state. After much hard work, these goals became reality as Rick Magley, top runner in the city, led the team to a 21-0 record.

Northrop got it all together by taking first in the sectionals. Rick Magley crossed the finish line second, Rick Vaughn third, and John Magley came in eighth.

The Bruins placed first in regionals, with Magley again running second. Rick Vaughn placed sixth, and Mike Henry placed 16th.

The team won fourth in the State meet. Rick Magley placed third, Rick Vaughn, eighth, and John Magley, 30th.

Coach Peterson sums up the year by saying, "In order to win, a team must be all for one and one for all."

John Bannister, junior, and Rick Vaughn, senior, sweat and strain to get through the finish aisle. Both harriers were top runners on the team, and competed in the state tournament.

Senior harrier Randy Allen strides out to take the lead as an opposing foe follows closely on his heels. Randy was one of the team's top men.

Sweat and strain are part of winning, and for senior Rick Magley, they paid off.

Work and sacrifice pay off as "The main thing is to win the proper way, to sacrifice, to work toward being the best in whatever you participate," according to Coach Jim Keim. Coach Keim's netters ended the 1972 season with 11 wins, 2 losses, and the sectional championship under their belts.

Practice started on August 21, with 21 guys trying out for the team. All 21 remained through the season, although only 6 played varsity.

The best match the team played was against Homestead, by a score of 5-2. The 2 defeats were suffered against South and Concordia, by identical scores of 5-2.

Captain Greg Beer led the team with an 11-2 record. Jon Brelje captured second with a 12-1 record. Doubles teams of Beer and Brelje, and Beer and Randy Gerig tied for first with records of 9-1 and 2-1.

Senior Ken Burgener, who placed fourth on the team, shows he takes his work seriously.

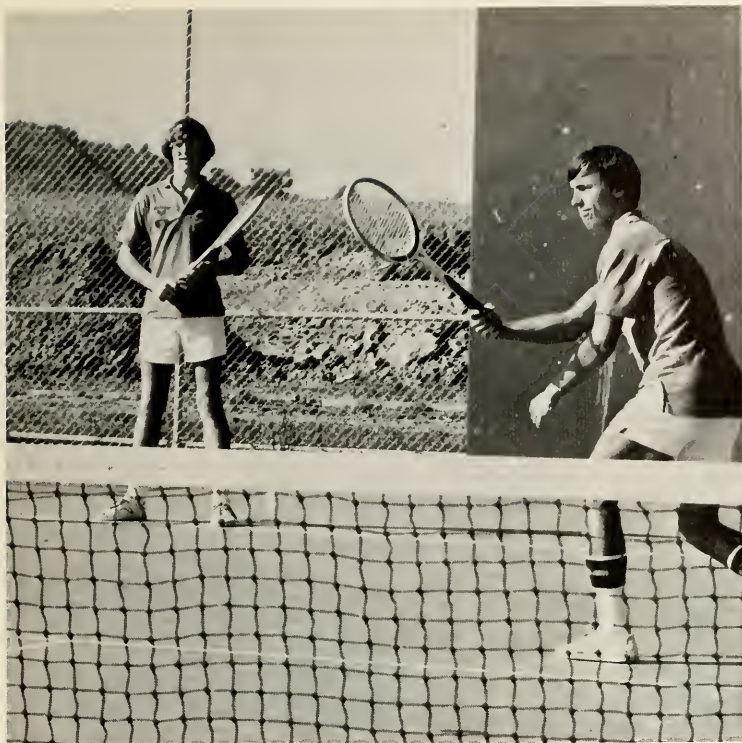

Junior Jon Brelje keeps a careful eye on the ball as he slams it across the net.

Gridders face challenges; end 7

On August 11, 89 men, including 15 lettermen, came out for the first official practice of the 1972 Northrop football team. Coach Buzz Doerffler's pre-season outlook was very optimistic. Coach Doerffler, assisted by Howie Schneider, Tom Herman, Kip Ormerod, and Mike Danley coached the team to a 7-3 record.

Halfback Larry Kennedy led the team in scoring with 17 touchdowns. Wid Knight, end, was the only player to receive All State recognition.

On September 1, Northrop played their first game, and beat Heritage, 34-6. On October 6, the Bruins clenched the North Division title, defeating Dwenger, 20-7.

The Bruins were then on their way to Wayne stadium for the city championship game. They were up against third state ranked Luers. Luers, who took the south division, won 20-12 over Northrop.

Coach Doerffler stated that: "All the guys were outstanding in their own way. They all contributed something, and that is what makes a fine team."

Struggle is a violent part of the game of football, and as is shown, a lot of struggle is going on the homecoming game against Wayne.

years; end with 5-1 season

With ball in hand, junior quarterback Bill Patten runs up against some tough opposition in the form of a North Side Redskin.

"Football, as well as other athletics, is a game of life. The loyalty, team effort, and hard work are not just necessary for a successful life", stated Coach Kip Ormerod. Success was a part of life for his 1972 reserve gridders, as they ended their season with a 4-1 record.

Practice started August 15, and 32 came out. When school started in September, the squad was cut to 26.

The team played their best game against Wayne, the final score was 47-0. The toughest team the guys played was Dwenger. This was the game that they lost, 7-2. Although they lost, Coach Ormerod stated that, "It was a hard fought contest. I was proud of my players, even though they lost."

"I try to help the young people be better citizens, to build sportsmanship, and to play fair." This is the coaching philosophy of head basketball coach Bob Dille. Using these principles, Coach Dille's 1972-73 cagers ended regular season play on February 16th with an 18-2 win-loss record.

The two losses were suffered at the hands of North Side, by a score of 73-64, and Richmond, by a score of 71-56.

The best games the team played were against South Bend Adams, the final score was 73-60, and Penn, by a score of 69-68.

Coach Dille was assisted by Mr. Chris Stavretis and Mr. Jim Keim. The team was captained by junior Tom Madden and senior Greg Beer.

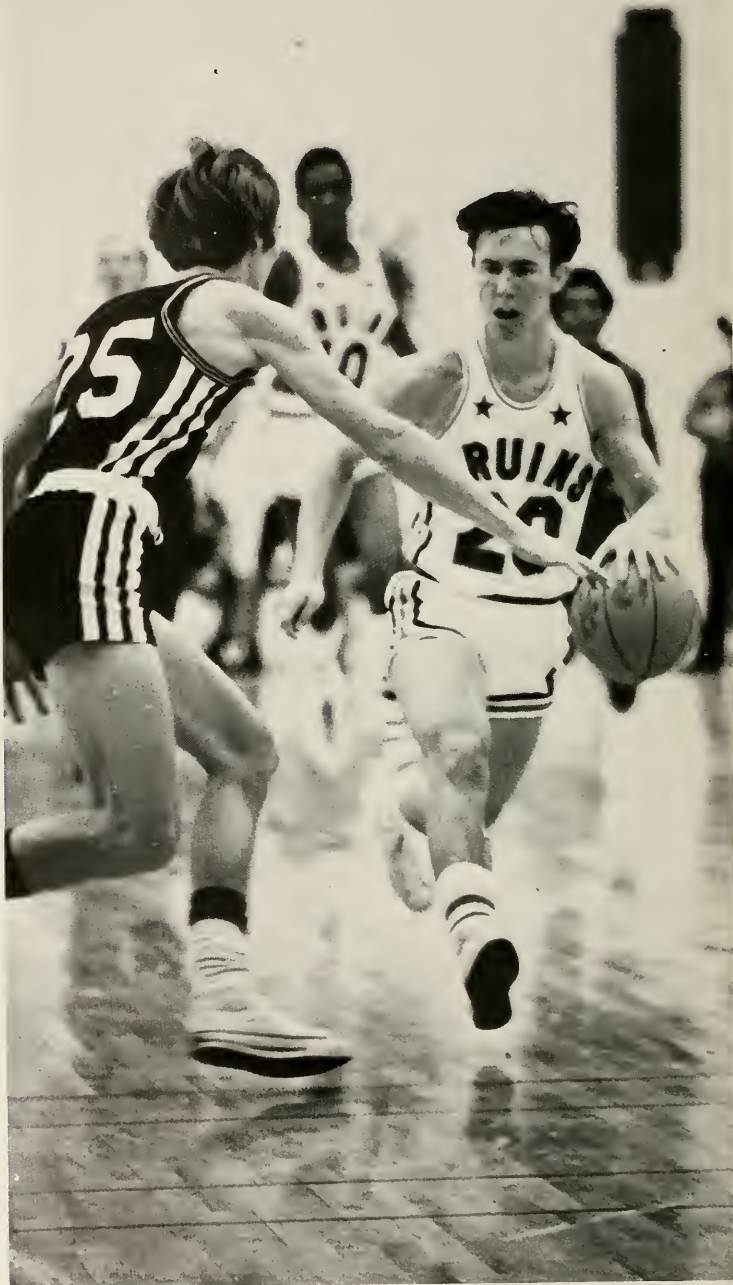

The team was led in scoring by seniors Mike Whitt and Greg Beer, and junior Mike Muff. Whitt, who played forward, scored a total of 586 points, including 210 fieldgoals and 58 freethrows. Beer, who played guard, scored 118 points, 26 fieldgoals, and 39 freethrows. Muff, who started at center, scored 422 points, 162 fieldgoals, and 41 freethrows.

Coach Dille's only comments on the team and season were "excellent, fantastic!"

Dillemen triumph in Sectional One

Showing that the "youth" of the school doesn't mean all it's cracked up to be, the 1972-73 Northrop Bruins Basketball team is the 1973 Sectional 1 and Regional champs, and the Fort Wayne Semi-State runner-up.

To capture sectionals, Northrop defeated Bishop Dwenger, Homestead, and Woodlan. In regional competition, Northrop broke the previous regional record and set a school record by defeating Fremont 101-43. In regional finals, Northrop defeated Westview by one point in overtime.

Mike Whitt led Bruin scoring in the tournament with 234 points. Mike Muff was second, followed by Walter Jordan.

Commenting on the tournament, Coach Dille stated that it was "great. The favorite, Anderson, was knocked out. Anderson or South Bend Adams were thought to win until an unknown team came out on top. That's what makes our tournament great!"

Under the direction of Mr. Chris Stavreti and Mr. Jim Keim, 11 guys played on the reserve basketball team. Practice started with conditioning in September, when 75 men came out for the team.

The final record for the team was 18-2. The best game played was against Wayne in the Holiday Tourney, 52-27. The losses were against Dwenger, 41-40, and Richmond, 42-49.

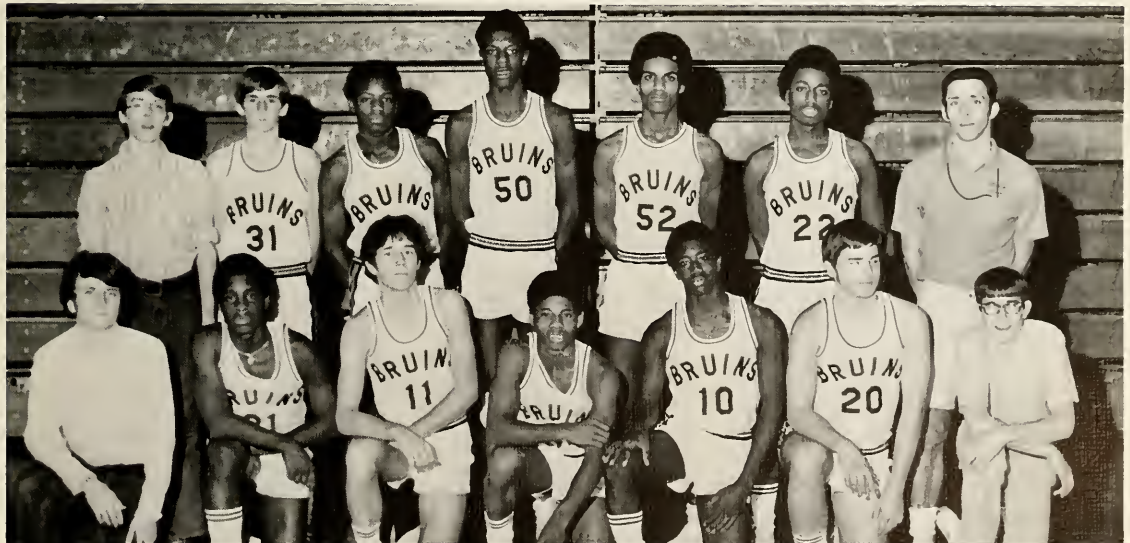

Coach Stavreti felt that it was a "very rewarding season", and that the team "demonstrated that time after time they could come from behind and never give up."

Under the direction of Mr. Jim Keim, 13 men participated in sophomore basketball. The final record was 11-0.

The best game played was against New Haven, 66-33, which set a school record.

The two top scorers were Tim Rogan, who scored an average of 9 points a game, and Leroy Smith, 8.5 points per game.

"We try to teach winning, but don't take out the fun." For Coach Tom Herman's 1972-73 varsity wrestling team, winning was part of the fun, as they ended their regular season competition with an 11 win-3 loss record.

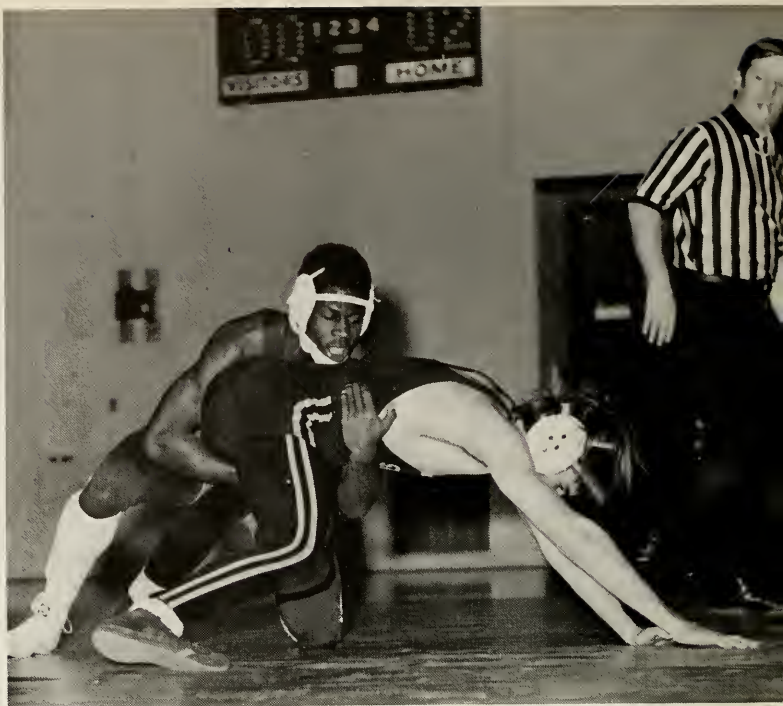

Three members of the team, seniors Bill Chaves (119 pounds), Bob Daniels (167 pounds), and sophomore Dave Herrick (98 pounds), advanced into tournament competition. Chaves took sectional champion honors for his weight class, Daniels took sectional and regional runner-up honors, and Herrick took sectional and regional runner-up honors.

In regular season competition, Chaves captured the championship title in the Belmont Tourney, while both Daniels and Herrick captured runners-up honors.

According to Coach Herman, the best match of the season was against Snider's grapplers, 31-25.

The three losses were suffered at the hands of Elmhurst, Concordia, and Wayne, by scores of 27-25, 33-27, and 24-18 respectively.

Of the team, Coach Herman stated that the men were a "group of dedicated people who achieved their goal."

Reserves fight to win; end 12-2

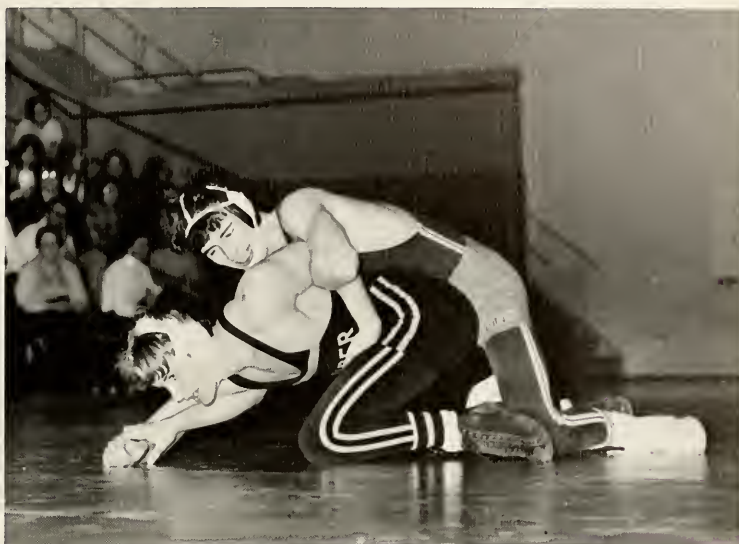

Under the direction of head coach Tom Herman, and assistant coaches Bob Walleen and Mike Danley, the 1972-73 reserve wrestling team finished off their season with a 12 win and 2 loss final record.

Practice for the team started the same time as it did for the varsity team, around the first of November. Primarily, these men worked on conditioning to get in top shape for the season.

When practice started, there were 60 men trying out for the squads. 29 were selected to represent Northrop as varsity grapplers, and 29 others were selected for the reserve squad.

No captains were elected for the reserves, and according to Coach Herman, there were really no top wrestlers on the squad because the men as a group were "too equal".

Coach Herman could only describe the season by saying that he was "quite happy" with the results.

The 1973 Northrop track team ended its season after capturing the sectional title and taking third place in the regional competition. Under the direction of head coach Barrie Peterson and assistant coaches Bob Walleen and Kip Ormerod, the team also ended the season with a perfect 15 win and no loss record.

Most of the team consisted mainly of runners on last year's team. The mile relay team consisted of seniors Gene Mero, Ken Post, Doug Ford, and junior Vic Getts. Last year's high hurdler, junior Mike Roberts, returned to that event this year. He shared the spot with Terry Minser and Jim Brenner. The mile runners this year were senior Rick Magley and junior John Bannister. Sprint events were left to runners Mike Hale, Larry Kennedy, Rosie Tubbs, Randy Beery, and Ron Richardville.

At the beginning of the season, Coach Peterson felt that this year's team was ahead of last year's team, which had a final record of 14-4. Coach Peterson also felt that this year's team was "stronger, deeper, and faster."

Duffers strive to be successful

April 9th officially opened practice for the 1973 Northrop Golf squad. Led by Head Coach Robert Dornie, the team ended its season with a 10-8 record.

On the first day of practice, twenty-seven guys tried out to make the team. After the final cuts were made, thirteen of the twenty-seven remained.

The team played its best in a match against Bishop Dwenger and Woodlan. The final scores were: Northrop-199, Bishop Dwenger-204, and Woodlan-207. South Side's duffers out-stroked the Bruins for their worst match of the season. The Archers triumphed 212 to 224.

Although coach Dornie's pre-season outlook was pessimistic, he felt that the team was "improving, and had a building year."

"Strike one, strike two, strike three, you're out!", yelled the umpire as Scott Gidley hurled the ball across home plate. Coach Stavreti described Scott as the most valuable player and pitcher this area has known for a long time.

The 1972 Bruin baseball team captured the sectional and regional titles. The sectional games were won by the pitching and a team batting average of .373, with 34 total runs scored.

Woodlan was the first victory, with a score of 20-4. The Bruins shut out Concordia next 10-0. The final game was against South, the final score was 4-1.

In the regionals, Gidley showed his skill as a pitcher when he pitched a near perfect game. A high pop-up was lost in the sun, and was the only hit allowed. In that game, against East Noble, Gidley faced 22 men, and Northrop won, 2-0. In the final game, Northrop defeated Leo, 2-0.

The Bruins then advanced to semi-state, where they played the number one team, LaPorte, who won in the 12th inning, 1-0.

"Hard work, dedication, responsibility, pride, teamwork, and motivation." To Chris Stavreti's 1973 baseball team, these words were what made the season successful.

When practice started in February with 50 guys, Coach Stavreti felt "optimistic. I felt the hitting and defense would be adequate." The question mark was pitching, primarily because of the inexperience. The inexperience quickly vanished when the 22 remaining players ended the season with an 18-4 record.

The City Championship game against Concordia was the best game for the team. Coach Stavreti stated that the pressure, offense, defense, and pitching put it all together for a win of 8-0. Garrett was the downfall of the team. According to Coach Stavreti, the offense, defense, and pitching performed erratically for the 8-4 loss.

The team wouldn't be complete without batgirls. These girls assisted the team at all games. They were: Kathie Wright, Barb Brown, Gail Altekruze, Linda Berger, Amy Witte, and Deb Woodroof.

Keglers kegle for trophies, fun

On October 24, 1972, approximately 70 students showed up to participate in Northrop's Mixed Bowling League. These students were divided up into 16, 4-person mixed teams, plus alternates. Under the direction of Mr. Marvin Todd, they bowled every Tuesday at 3:30, at Northcrest Lanes.

The season ran for 24 Tuesday nights, from October 24 to April 24. The season was also divided into two halves—October 24 to January 23, and January 30 to April 24. From these two half-seasons, a champion from the whole group was chosen for each half, and on May 1, the two champions compete in a roll-off match to decide the league's overall champion.

Trophies were distributed at a party which was held on May 4. Those trophies included four champions, four runners-up, four team high series, four team high game, male high series, female high series, male high game, female high game, most improved male, and most improved female.

These people participated in the 72-73 bowling club, under the supervision of Mr. Marvin Todd.

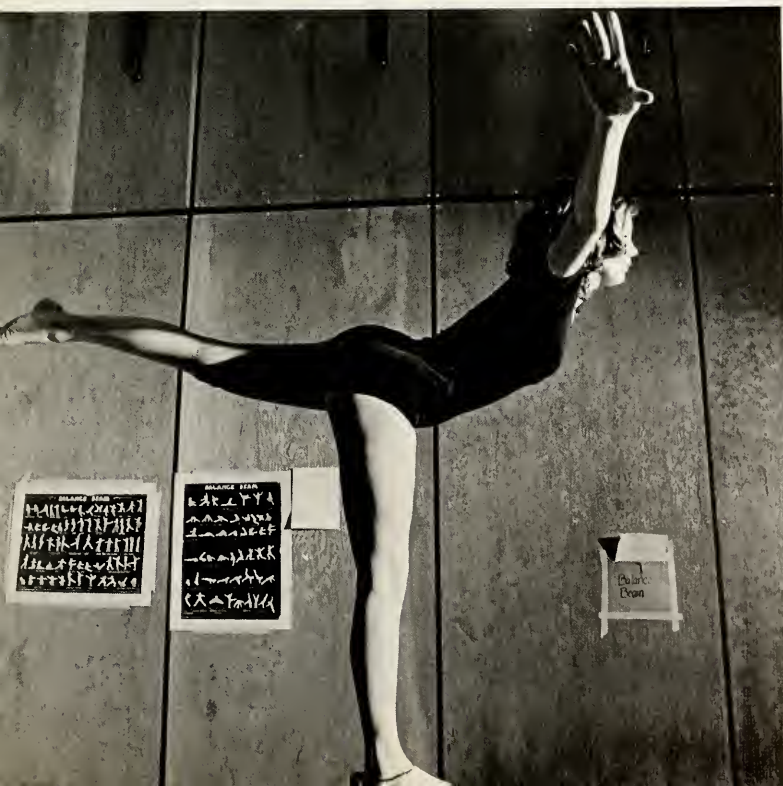

Gymnast work on agility, poise

Senior gymnast Nonna McGraw demonstrates her agility on the trampoline.

Concentrating on keeping on the balance beam, senior Shelly Wahl practices her routine.

"Even if you're a complete rookie, you can still come out and learn. Gymnastics is open to everybody, not just the gymnasts," so said Mr. Tom Tom, co-supervisor of intramural gymnastics. Mr. Tom, along with Miss Ruth Longardner supervises the activity which meets Mondays, Wednesdays, and Thursdays.

An average of 50 to 60 students worked out on the weekdays, but according to Mr. Tom, "the number varied. Some nights as many as 70 kids would come out, and other nights, there may have been as few as 30. We had about four to six people who showed up regularly every time."

The gymnastics equipment consists of a trampoline, even and uneven parallel bars, vaulting equipment, a side horse, high bars, mats, a balance beam, and a spring board.

Gymnastics started about two weeks after school started, and was held basically all year.

Indian clubs are also a part of gymnastics as Nancy Huff demonstrates.

Tiny Alice captures cager crown

On January 15th, 147 guys signed up for intramural basketball. Every Monday, these 147 guys, divided into 21 teams, competed against each other to take top honors. The team of "Tiny Alice", captained by Bill Patten, took those top honors with a final record of six wins and no losses. Other team members included Jim Rosselot, Jim Brenner, Tom Smead, Jim Murdock, Tom Boester, Jon Brejle, and Marty Wasson.

The teams were under the supervision of Mr. Tom Tom, intramural co-director.

Volleyball serves as form of fun

Clowning it up are these members of the girls volleyball team.

In almost any sport, teamwork is important, as is shown here.

On March 5, 1973, approximately 81 Northrop students showed up to participate in intramural volleyball. These 81 students, divided into 9 teams of 9 students each, played every Monday night.

Although the season consisted of only volleyball, there was also some competition with outside teams, besides the inter-squad competition.

Mr. Tom Tom, intramural director and supervisor, could only describe the season as "fantastic!"

Every once in awhile, you have to strain to reach the ball.

Work, determination pay off for

"C'mon men, let's move it! Faster! You guys run like a bunch of women!" Even though these are some of the things that coaches say to their athletes, it's purpose is to inspire the men to do the best that they can, namely 110%.

A coach's life isn't all as easy as it seems when you see them sitting on the bench. They have to plan strategy for each game or match. They also have to decide what move to make when the team is trailing, or what to do so that the team can keep the lead.

Then there's defeat. In coaching, they have to learn to take defeat without resentment. The only way to win is to lose, so that the team can learn from mistakes and correct them, so they're not made again.

But don't forget winning. Everyone likes to win at one thing or another. Of course, there's nothing more rewarding to a coach than to see that his hard work, long, sacrificing hours to teach the team the right way to do something pays off in victory for him and the team.

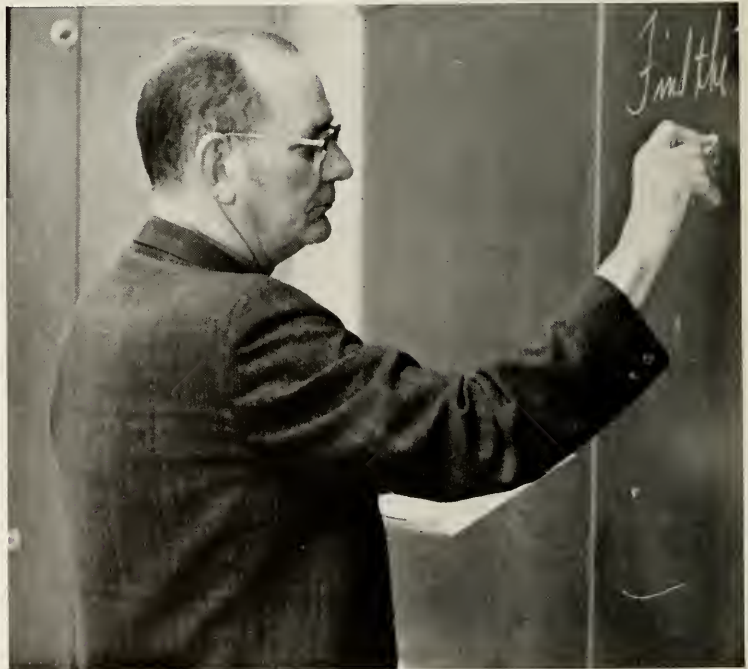

Winning, losing, hard work, and sacrifice are all a part of the job, and the coaches realize this and strive to achieve them, not only for the team, but for the whole school as well, and they do!

Cheerleaders push spirit 'n' pep

Rousing the school spirit and team support, the varsity cheerleaders, under the leadership of captain Starr Nahrwald, and Mrs. Janet Lipp, advisor, led the Bruin student body in many pep sessions and at the various games.

Cheering with Starr were Gail Altekruze, Cathy Bux, Lynn del Grosso, Marianne Ferraro, Pam Newman, Lee Ann Wallace, and Kathie Wright, Megan Nash and Julie Prifogle were alternates.

The girls were chosen in the spring of 1972 by teachers and various student council members. They were chosen from some 80 girls who tried out. When they tried out, they were required to do a set cheer, their own cheer, the school song, jumps and tumbles. They were also judged on their citizenship, leadership, reliability, and enthusiasm.

During the summer, the girls participated in a workshop at Vincennes University, where they won the Coca-Cola Award, and were chosen the most outstanding squad.

At the end of the year, each of the girls received a gold charm.

Senior cheerleader Lynne delGrosso seems depressed, possibly at a bad call by the ref.

Under the direction of Miss Vicki Whisler, sponsor, the reserve cheerleaders assisted the varsity cheerleaders in promoting school spirit. The squad consisted of Cindi Beery, Debbie Bishop, Karen Dunbar, Diane Hoffman, Suzanne MacDonald, Pam Mason, Joan Neuman, and Glenna Ross. Fran Harris and Gina Sparks were the alternates.

These girls were judged by the same group and on the same routines as the varsity squad. They also participated in the workshop at Vincennes University, and in other activities with the varsity cheerleaders. These activities included pep sessions, dances, homecoming, in which they sponsored "lick 'em day", and served as tour guides when there were guests at Northrop.

At the end of the year, each of the girls received a silver charm.

In order to push spirit, you have to yell, as is shown by junior Gail Altekruse.

Men's Service Club started out this year putting their "best foot forward." The main purpose of the club was to serve the school, church, and community. One of the many things they did during the year was displaying the banner at sectionals, regionals, and semi-state games. They also installed curtains for the Christ Child Festival, had a paper drive and sold Northrop license plates. Officers were Rick Murphy-President, Mark Fredericks-Vice President, and Jim Biggs-Secretary/Treasurer. The sponsor was Mr. R.J. Certain.

The Girl's Service Club also had a very great year. As in the Men's Service Club, the main purpose is to the school and the community. They had a Halloween party at the Children's Home. Then around Christmas time, they acted like little elves and mysteriously left the teachers baked goods and coffee every morning. In the spring of the year, they sold stationery which brought in a big profit. The officers were Nancy Storms- President, Jane Crumback- Secretary/Treasurer, Jane Taylor- Committee Chairman, Kathy Rish- Committee Chairman of Community Services, and Sue Harris- Committee Chairman of Fund raising.

Cheerblock chants for a victory

Above is the 1972-73 Girls' Cheerblock taken as they get ready for the big Bruin win during the Basketball regionals. One of the rewards of being in the Cheerblock is that all of the members in the cheerblock are taken care of first in the getting of tickets for all the special games and they are the best tickets as the girls always get to have those seats right next to the playing court.

Cheerblock grew over twice the size that it was last year. It was sponsored by Mrs. Barbara Jennings and led by the co presidents Denise Aughenbaugh and Jan Frost.

Other officers were Julie Frost and Renee Gunder. Their outfits consisted of dark skirts or pants with orange and white shirts.

As a money raising project, they sold comb sets. Membership requirements were to be at all home games and the sectional, regional, and the semi-state basketball games.

Ski Club may have had a snowy winter this year but not all of it was good skiing snow. A few trips were taken during the year but weather conditions weren't always right. The club was under the direction of Mr. Goerge Tricolas and the club officers. They were Brant Howard- President, Jan Jackson- Vice President, Nancy Storms- Secretary, and Cheri Jesse- Treasurer. Trips were taken to Wawasee and various other ski slopes around the tri-states. A big trip was being planned for spring vacation but due to the lack of snow on the ski slopes, the trip melted away.

The Pom Pons show sideline suspense.

Up the score! Up the score! seems to be the chant of the girls.

Who has the prettiest bunch of Pom Pon Girls in the state of Indiana? Why Northrop does, of course!

The 1972-73 Pom Pon squad under the leadership of Cindy Hall and Denise Moore proved to be an attractive asset to Northrop high school. The girls began the year early by going to camps and holding summer practice before school even opened.

Once football season began, the girls were busy with the many halftime shows that they put together. They also were involved in many fund raising projects during the year.

Basketball games brought more shows that had to fit into the gym and also the added responsibility of running the game coat check. Every customer not only got his own coat back after the basketball games, but he also got one of the widest and most sincere smiles in Fort Wayne.

With all the talent, beauty, poise, and verve possible, it was this fine group of twirlers who time after time, led the Mighty Marching Bruin Band on to the field or the floor for basketball games. During the 1972-73 year, the Northrop High School Twirlers consisted of Toni McCoy, Sandi Walker,

Cher Skinner, Lisa Sadler, Jana Mouglin, Mary Beth Martin, and Janis Lapsley. Missing when the picture was taken was Lucy Guevara. Advisor for the group is Mrs. Leslie Sawin.

Northrop Twirlers lead the band

The twirlers performed this year along with the Pom Pon squad. A brilliant sparkle of color was dazzling in front with the bright orange outfits of the twirler crew.

Both the football and the basketball halftimes were highlighted by these attractive and very talented young ladies. On many occasions, their flashing batons threatened to do mortal harm to the spectators, but always their ability was close at hand to make the catch.

During the summer, these young ladies put in many hard hours in Fort Wayne and at a special summer camp sharpening their routines.

Sponsor for the group was Mrs. Leslie Sawin. This advanced the nickname of "Sawin's Sweeties".

Senior Congress was composed of the Senior Class Officers, the sponsors, and two representatives chosen from each homeroom. They had called meetings when such a need would arise. Things they planned this year were the Senior Breakfast, Senior Reception, Sadie Hawkins Dance, After-prom, picked out graduation announcements, picked out graduation caps and gowns, planned Senior Picnic, and thought of the gift the Senior Class was to give the school. The officers were Al Martindale- President, Don Klein- Vice President, Deb Tilbury- Secretary/Treasurer, and Cheri Jesse- Social Chairman. The sponsors were Leona Plumanns, Arthur Schwab, Kip Ormerod, and Leslie Sawin.

Steve Williams and advisor Don Liebrum rap about Council.

One of the busiest groups in the whole of Northrop during any year is the student council. These people are the voice of the student body in the schools legislative process.

Officers this year included Steve Williams as president, Gray Gulliksen as the vp, and Kim Kloepper as the group secretary.

From the three classes, a total of twenty-four students joined the council. They attended meetings and led and worked on the SC projects.

Mr. Don Liebrum took over reins as the advisor and put in many hours to be sure things went well. He also had control of the signs that appeared in the commons during the entire year.

Council activities included the selling of spirit hats and Bruin T shirts. This raised money and also raised school spirit.

Distributive Education is a class as well as a club. A DE member attends school in the morning and then has "on the job training" during the afternoon. Officers were chosen at the beginning of the year. They were Karen Gardt- President, Sue Farlee- Vice President, Sharon Evans- Treasurer, and Beth Friedley- Secretary.

Their money-making projects for the year were selling candles, calendars, candy, donuts, and bumper stickers.

Also involved in the projects was a junior DE class who learned the fundamentals of DE for their senior year in DE.

Northrop's fine name was again displayed when it was brought into the open by Karen Gardt being elected President for District III.

They wound up their year with the second annual Awards Banquet held during the third week in May.

Latin, French Clubs are cultured;

Ruth Lachot discusses a book in Latin.

Latin Club was sponsored by Mrs. Janet Weber and led by Marla Shock. It met twice a month and had interesting times together. They went carolling at Christmas time along with the Northrop French Club.

French Club was sponsored by Mrs. Barbara Jennings. They were lucky to have Dave Wilkerning as a president since he had been fortunate to travel to France the previous summer. The Club went Christmas carolling. They also made a trip to Cafe Johnell for a French meal.

Both French and Latin Clubs combined on a picnic in May. They ate a picnic lunch and played volleyball and softball before and after.

Steve leads junior class in activities;

The class of 1974 chose as its leader President Steve Snyder. Kathy Wilkerson was social chairman, Sue Green was secretary treasurer, and Mishele Glass as vp.

It was either the class with the real promise or the class with the real class as far as the juniors were concerned. When something around Northrop needed to be done and done right, the juniors took a hand. This was true of academics, of sports, of music, of publications and everything else.

Under the leadership of the class officers and chief sponsor Mrs. Janet Weber, work was turned out and things came out well. Next year, the class of 1974 will certainly be in good position to boast that they are the best class that Northrop has ever graduated.

After spending this year setting up the prom and working at commencement and senior recognition night, next year the seniors will all the more enjoy being the guests of honor at these self same functions.

Speech enthusiasts compete in N.F.L. meets

In its second year of existence, the Northrop Speech club made great strides in establishing a winning tradition. More people were involved in more speech meets and another increase is expected in the next year. The members of the 1972-73 Speech club are from left to right Cathy Dick, Mike

Aspy (president), Mark Warsco (secretary-treasurer), Mike Fritsch (vice-president), Mr. William Brown (advisor), Russ Roloff, Scott Zook, Gwen Turner, and Bart Buechner.

The speech club under the tutelage of Mr. William Brown hosted many interesting activities during the year. These were run on a class time as well as an extraschool basis.

On many Saturdays the speech club hit the campaign trail and visited a host of area speech tourneys and meets. Many of these netted trophies and ribbons for the Bruin orators.

High light of the year came when the Northrop speech program was the organizer for two seniors speeches to be delivered at the 1973 commencement. Winners of this honor were Seniors Mike Aspy and Malinda Wade.

Special awards as incentives are a regular part of the speech program.

Northrop's "Bobby Fischers" compete regularly

Mark Winteregg and Mike Aspy settle down to a chess encounter.

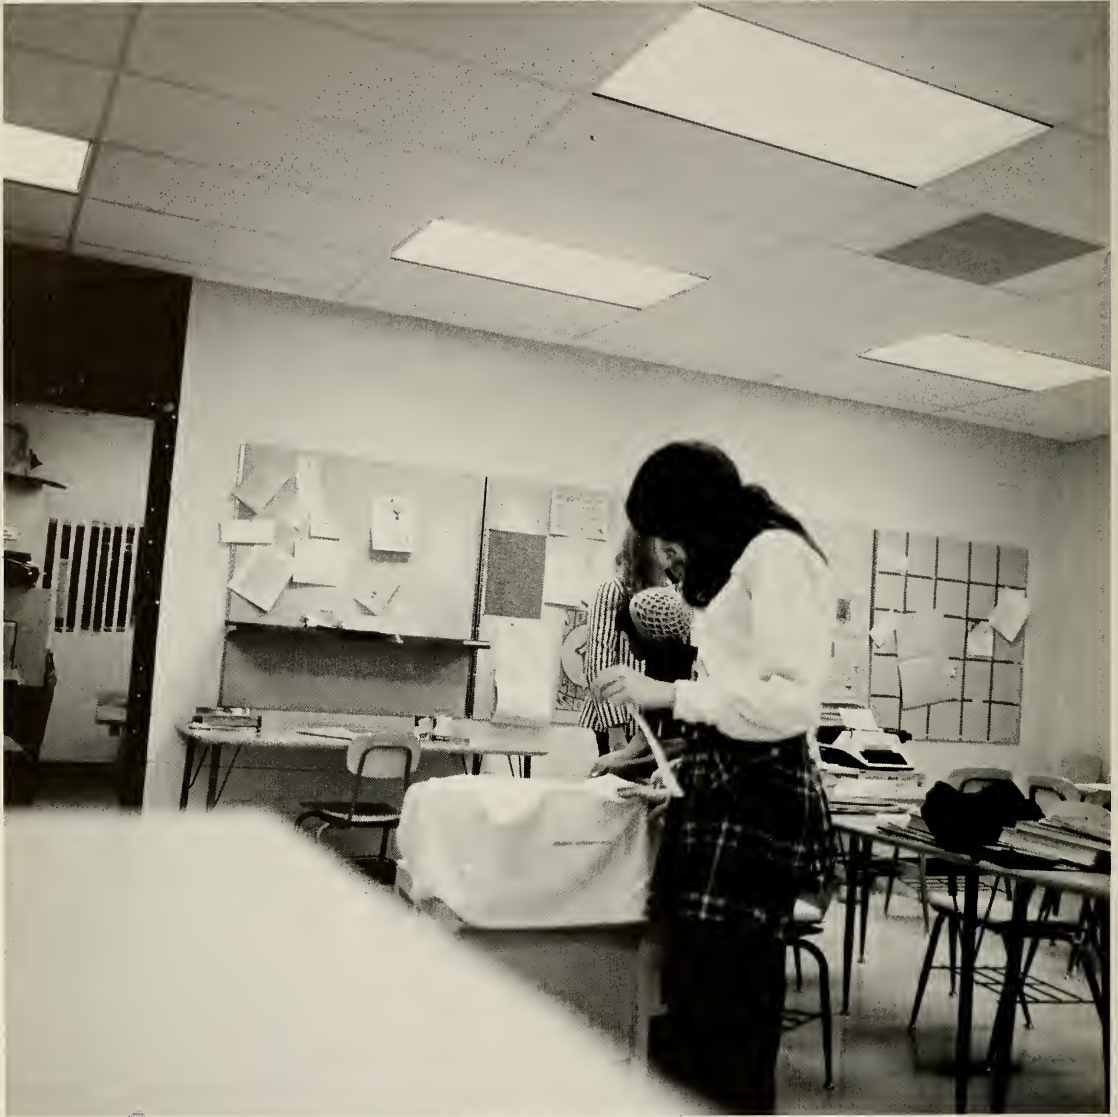

"Checkmate" is the call that a chess player hates to hear. That is, unless he is the one calling it. The Northrop Chessers must have called it more than it called on them as they won both of their meets with Northside this year.

Under the direction of sponsor Jim Sweeney and president Ray Balogh the chess club got off to a good start, but ran out of steam at the end of the year. No activity was planned for the spring, but the club did win two meets with inter-school competition and two intra-school matches.

There was a school wide tourney set up and Dave Yuhaz was eventually crowned as the school champion.

Everything taken in accounting, it was a good year for the Bobby Fischers at the Bruin School.

Excellence must be sought after

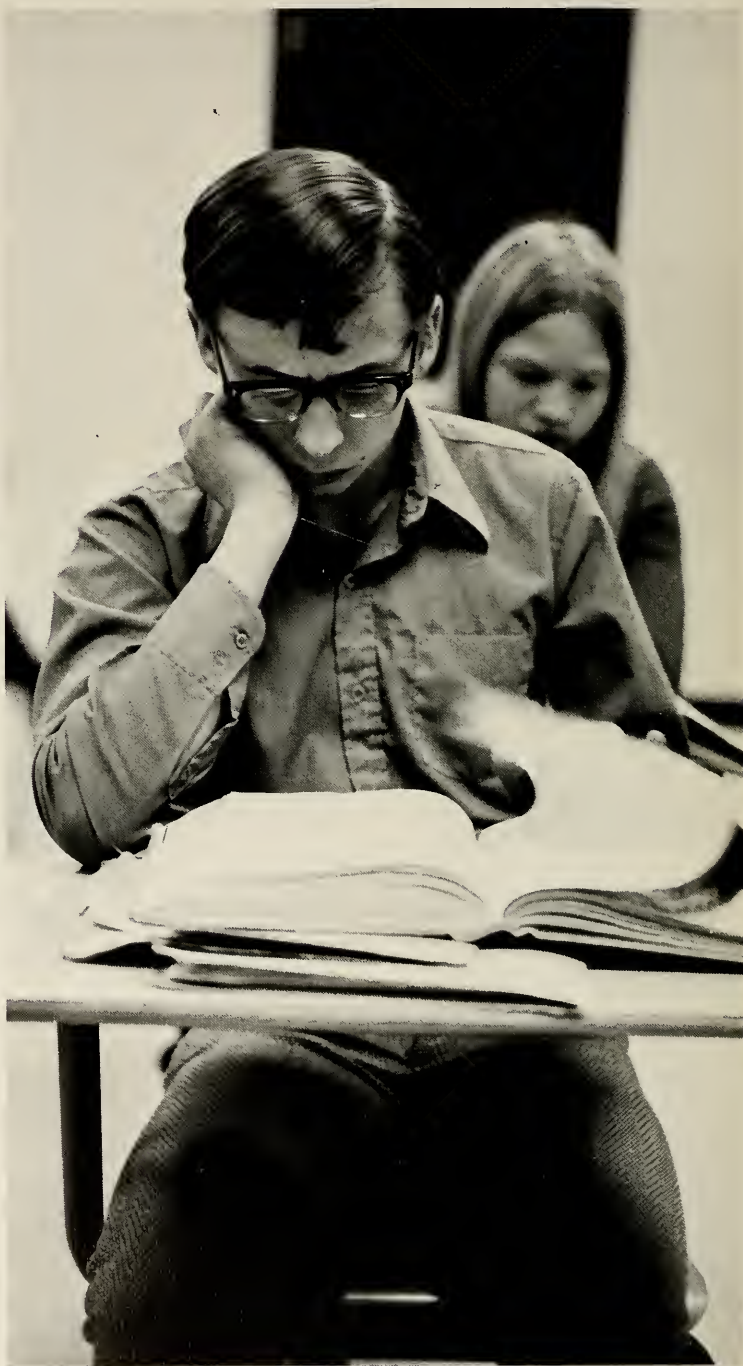

Even when we compete against others, it still comes down to doing the best WE can do.

Sometimes we are competing with a machine and it is our skill we are polishing.

Even if it is nothing more than one person alone improving himself with a good book.

Always we are pushing a limit of some kind and it is by exceeding that limit that we gain some success we can measure.

if we are to improve ourselves

Everytime we search, we come down to the lowest possible common denominator, and that lowest possible common denominator is us. It is the individual who is unique.

We all belong to groups and all this section we have been talking about groups, but now we need to come back to the basic unit, back to the individual. YOU are what is unique to Northrop's organizations.

It is the individual that makes up the successful groups and it is back to the individual that the group will eventually return. No chain can be any stronger than any of its particular links and you are the link in the Bruin chain.

You are the raw material that is being tempered and improved and it's that improving that will make Northrop better and better.

You are the idea that this school is all about and there are a lot of people who are very proud of you and who want to wish you the best that is possible.

Push yourself and improve yourself and Northrop will get along just fine. When you become better, so does Northrop High School.

Even loitering during lunch creates groups at the Commons windows where watching Organizations at Northrop High School are made up of two things. Of people and activity. We were blessed with the best possible of both.

The student body is one of the finest and certainly the largest in Fort Wayne. And when a number of them with a common interest get together, the best results come out.

Excellence in many places is a matter of a narrow and very special area, but for the Bruins, it is the goal and ambition in all pursuits.

Music, sports, social life, the academic fields, or any special interest area, all are high points for those lucky enough to be Bruins.

In antiquity, the prized and valued possessions were frankincense, Myrrh, and gold. Today, only gold is prized as precious and it is still as aweome as it was in Biblical times when Greeks and Phoenicians set sail in search of this yellow metal.

Later it was still prized as the Spanish galleons set their wide expanses of canvas to the winds of the Spanish Main to bring chest upon chest of gold to the treasure houses of the kings of the Iberian state. It is from this tradition of mystery, of intrigue, and of romance that the symbol for the Josten ring and stationary company comes. The Josten "Galleon" should remind you of the history of the gold in your purchase and the quality that our company represents to you.

Josten's

Mr. Gary Muncy is a familiar sight around the hall of Northrop as he frequently visits the Bruin school to do the most possible to service the needs of the students and the school itself for academic jewelry and stationary. Mr. Muncy is in charge of the class ring orders, other jewelry, and the graduation announcements for the senior class.

Little things can mean much

Things that make up happy times are not big. They are small and so very common place until we leave and then see them no more. Maybe it is that way with us and Northrop.

The 1972-73 school year was one of the unique things in our lives. It was a time to pride and success and even more, a time of belonging. It was belonging in seeing little things around us that we recognized and were comfortable with.

Now the year is done and all of these things are found only between the covers of this yearbook and in our own minds. May the memories in your mind be bright and may they reflect warmly on your soul.

eventually remind us of the end

The end in sight . . .

Summer and Freedom!

Sun rises, sun sets— —Year begins, year ends

Sunsets are sort of weird. In a way, they are as unique as a year at Northrop High School. They are unique because each is the end and has a definite end but each also signals a new and an equally unique beginning. Sunset means that the old day is done, but also that a new day is coming.

We have had some good beginnings this year at Northrop and it seems as if they will grow into complete entities. But now at the close of the school year they are gone. May your new beginnings be as wonderful and full as the year that we are now closing.
